

Australian Stamp Duty & Land Tax Maps

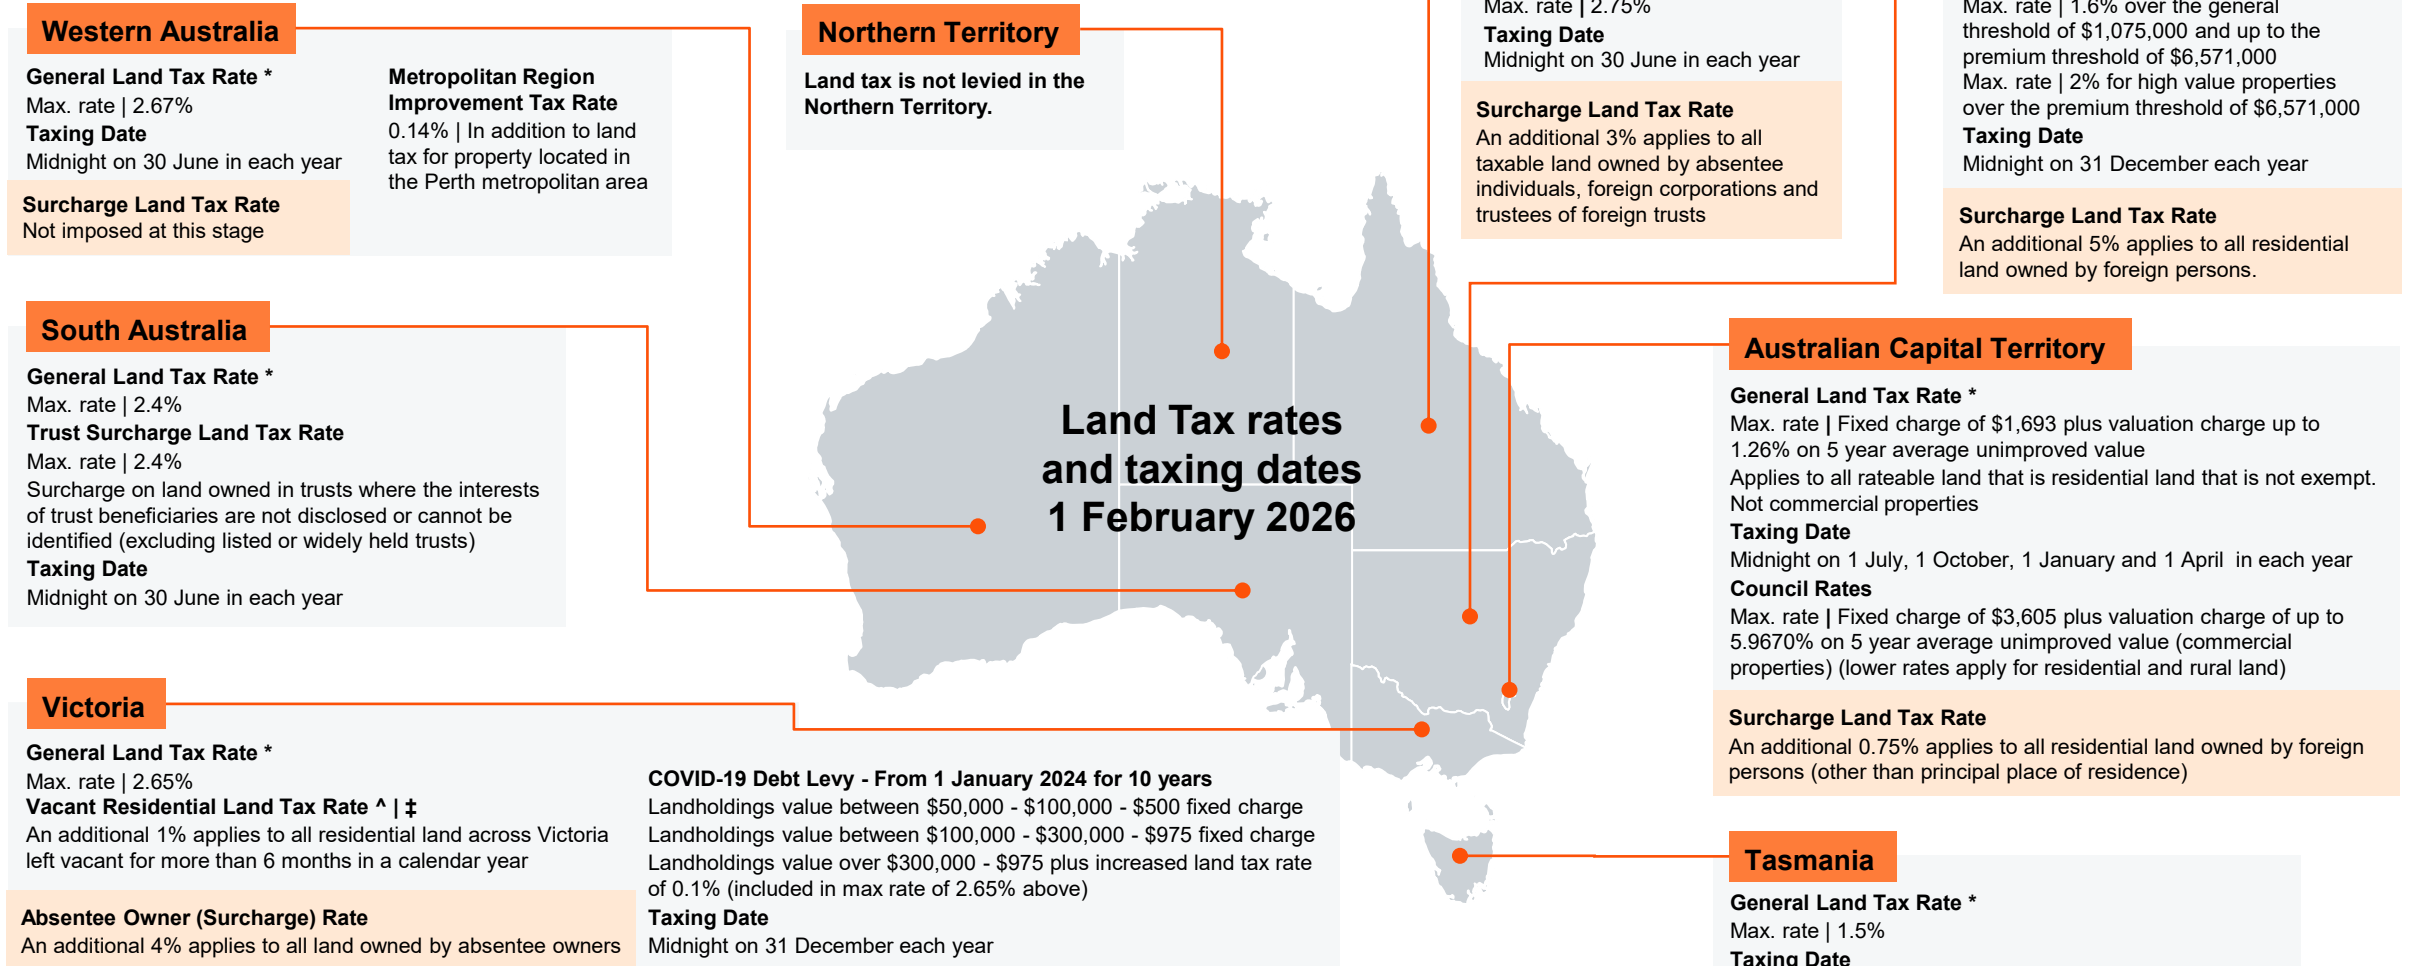

Australian stamp duty rates and thresholds*

* The rates provided are the highest effective rates. Thresholds and lower rates of duty apply for lower value properties.

Australian land tax rates and taxing dates*

* The rates provided are the highest effective rates. Thresholds and lower rates of tax apply for lower value properties. Other levies and payments can apply to the holding of property and development of land.

‡ From 1 January 2025, vacant residential land tax (VRLT) applies to all residential land in Victoria if the land is vacant for more than 6 months in the preceding calendar year. A progressive rate of VRLT will apply to non-exempt vacant residential land based on the number of consecutive tax years the land has been liable for VRLT (1% for the first year | 2% for the second consecutive year | 3% for the third consecutive year). In addition, from 1 January 2026, VRLT will also apply to all unimproved residential land in metropolitan Melbourne that has remained undeveloped for at least 5 years and is capable of residential development.

^ This is in addition to the Federal Government's Residential Vacancy Fee for residential properties left vacant for at least 6 months per year.

‡ From the 2025 land tax year the tax-free threshold ($1,075,000) and premium rate threshold ($6,571,000) for land tax was frozen at the 2024 levels and will no longer be indexed annually in line with property price changes but will be subject to periodic review.
